Albums and Presentation

Like many great photo challenges, my Wedding Albums grew out of a search for a product that wasn't widely available on the market and which would come with an air of luxury and exclusivity. As an experienced professional photographer, I was looking for albums crafted in the UK and Ireland that would be works of art in their own right and would stand the test of time.

After much research and trialling – not without its frustrations and setbacks – I eventually came across a supplier formula which seriously impressed me and everyone I showed it to.

My approach is straightforward and based on what I know professional photographers should deliver. I keep my formats simple, offering leather covers as standard, and am dedicated to fantastic image quality and all-round beautiful presentation.
